Tiny premature twin babies who were born at only 29 weeks gestation have defied the odds thanks to a life-saving twin cot. Marcus and Macie Lee, from Glasgow, were born prematurely after their mother, Jennifer Prior, developed complications during her pregnancy at 20 weeks gestation. Hospital staff warned that the children were likely to be stillborn. However, fortunately, this was not the case, and the tiny babies were born weighing only 11lb 3oz and 2lb. Even though they had made it safely out of the womb, they had to spend the first ten weeks of their lives in the Neonatal Intensive Care Unit (NICU) of Glasgow Children's Hospital. Thankfully, after receiving round-the-clock care from medical staff, Marcus and Macie were able to leave the hospital after three months. "As time went on they thrived more and more with very little complication," Jennifer said. "Being told the worst was likely to happen ... then for the complete opposite, felt like a miracle. I'll never forget the feeling of thinking I wouldn't leave without my babies. I was there day and night ... hoping someone would give me some hope and confirmation they would survive." The newborn twins were the first to use the hospital's new co-sleeping cot, which medics believe "made a massive difference to their progress." Speaking up For Life

"Let us never forget and continue to trust in God as our only resource when we face difficult life issues. Continue to pray for our country as some leaders continue to pursue making laws that jeopardize precious lives and challenge God's plan for life. Let us put our trust in God, not man." Virginia Flo, Director of Volunteer Relations, Lutherans For Life

"I pray that you will recognize and value those people in your life who were blessed by God so they could be a blessing to you! I especially pray that you will then use the blessings God has bestowed on you to bless those around you and to pass these blessings on to your own descendants to a thousand generations. Now is the time to pass on the gift. Now is the time to pass the baton to the next runner in the race! To God be all the glory!" Barbara Lane Geistfeld, Lutherans For Life

"When we engage in the political process, we as Christians rightfully assert these rights, knowing that in doing so we are defending not only or even primarily ourselves, but our neighbors ... By asserting the right to life, and to other natural rights, we are in fact confessing God's given order." Rev. Dr. Peter Scaer, Concordia Theological Seminary
